GETTING ELECTION READY FOR 2022

By Supervisor of Elections Ron Turner

Another successful municipal election season is in the books, as the November 2 City of Venice election and Town of Longboat Key referendum have been certified. In all, two Council seats were determined in Venice and a density referendum was passed in Longboat Key.

As I often say, all elections are important and that was certainly the case on November 2.

In addition to be being an important election for the voters of Venice and Longboat Key, it was an important election for my team as well. This was our first election using a new voter registration and elections management solution—a system used by all 67 counties in Florida. I am happy to report that our new system worked as expected, with nearly 10,000 combined votes cast and a voter turnout of 39.08% in Venice and 27.57% in Longboat Key.

The November 2 election saw another first for my office: the debut of a new ADA-compliant voting machine. ExpressVote allows voters with disabilities to mark a readable, verifiable ballot card privately and review their selections to ensure their vote was recorded accurately before submitting the card for tabulation.

Finally, I want to give a shoutout to my staff and the many poll workers who helped make this election a success. As I have just outlined, there were several changes to navigate and they did it with their typical positive attitude and professionalism.

Respectfully,

Human Resources & Poll Worker Services Update

We are still in the beta testing stage of a new method for electronic communication to poll workers. To determine poll worker availability for the March 8, 2022, School District Millage Referendum, Holiday Park and Tri Par Estates elections, poll workers should check their email inboxes for a message from SarasotaPollWorkers@gmail.com. The message will provide a link to a Google Form™ that should be completed to indicate work availability.

As beta testing continues with our new electronic communication program, all poll workers will be informed of what to look for when checking for email from our office.

Employees of the 2nd & 3rd Quarter

The busy November election caused us to get a bit behind recognizing our Employee of the Quarter, so in this Election Connection we get to celebrate two outstanding Supervisor of Elections team members.

Congratulations to Voter Specialist Tom Dagg for earning the Employee of the 2nd Quarter award. Likewise, GIS Administrator Antoine Henry was recognized as Employee of the 3rd Quarter for his efforts as a member of our talented IT team.

Please join us in congratulating Tom and Antoine.

Poll Workers Wanted!

If you have friends or family members who would like to become poll workers, please direct them to our website at SarasotaVotes.gov where they can learn more about joining our team of dedicated election workers.
